Guide for the workers' representatives in the new member states of the EU
»European Works Councils: Why and how?«

In the framework of the European project lead by the ZSSS and financed by the European Commission a new guide for workers' representatives was published. The title of the guide is »European Works councils – why and how?«

The purpose of the publication is to give workers' representatives in the new member states information how important the EWC is in multinational company operated in the EU and why it is important be part of it. Whether by election of member in the existing EWC or by setting up a new EWC by themselves if possible. It is about implementation of the european workers' right on information and consultation in practise.

The content of the guide is designed practicaly with instructions, schemes, examples and warnings.

The giude is published in four languages; slovene, french, polish and czech. Beside slovenian workers it could be used also by workers in Poland, Czech Republic and Slovak Republic.

The guide is sent to all our partners in the project and all those for whom the guide might be useful.

The whole text in all published languages can be found on the web site of the ZSSS by clicking the link
